

SPORTING EXTRA.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA. OUTLAWS MUST GO.

One of Them, Frank Stevenson, Already in Hiding.

Kelly and McCormick Trim to Suit the Times.

The Police Collecting Evidence Against Dive-Keepers.

Welch and Sullivan Still Continue to Openly Defy Law and Decency.

"The Evening World's" Crusade against New York's outlaws is beginning to tell. District-Attorney Neill announces that he will prosecute them, and has begun investigations with this object in view. Supt. Murray says that the police are willing to break up this illegal business, and will do it if "The Evening World" will furnish the evidence.

For his information "The Evening World" sits its position. It is neither the city's Prosecuting Attorney nor an agent of the police. It is simply the champion of the people, whose rights and welfare it continually looks after.
When "The Evening World" discovers wrong and outlaws it turns up to the search-light of publicity. It directs the attention of the authorities. It is, to them, being shown where the evil is, to put it down.

"The Evening World" will do its best to keep the glare of publicity on these dens of iniquity until they disappear.
How long this will be depends largely on those officials who are responsible for the city's welfare.

Mr. Frank Stevenson, proprietor of the sink of iniquity on Bleeker street known as "The Slate," has sunk out of the glare of publicity turned upon that resort by "The Evening World." He has left the city for the city's good and his own, anticipating and avoiding arrest and imprisonment by flight.

"Honest" John Kelly's tripeulent den, on the northeast corner of Sixteenth Avenue and Thirty-fourth street, has been short of two of its branches—the assignation annex and the gambling hell upstairs—and in McCormick's den in the same neighborhood, the night-crows which made the place notorious have been discontinued.

Other dive-keepers are awakening to a realization that the iniquity from punishment forever enjoyed by men of their class is a thing of the past, and those who still continue in the nefarious business have found it expedient to adopt a cloak of secrecy.

These changes are the direct result of THE EVENING WORLD'S crusade against the outlaws of New York, and the battle has only just begun.

LANDMARKS OF CORRUPTION.

Carey Welch's and Jim Sullivan's Dives Defy Law and Decency.

Two young men stood on the corner of Fourteenth street and Fourth avenue last night discussing THE EVENING WORLD'S ex-posure of New York's outlaws and their dives.
Such places as Iredell's in the EVENING WORLD was the only one mentioned, one man was saying.

"The only wonder to me is that they can exist over a big city like this. There is that dive down the street, Carey Welch's 'Hole in the Wall.' I wonder if it is open after all. THE EVENING WORLD has published about it."

It was Carey Welch's former proprietor of the "Golden Horn," which was ruined and broken up by the police, continues to do very well.

A TEN-YEAR-OLD FIREBUG, SHOOTER SELLING INDICTED.

Mamie Ayers Made Two Attempts to Burn a Hospital.

The Grand Jury to-day found an indictment for murder in the second degree against Joseph Seeling, who shot and killed John J.
Wogan at Tom Gowan's dive, Sixth Avenue and Twenty-third street, on Christmas morning.

Wogan was the extensive owner of the buildings in which the dives are conducted.

Altogether, the indications are that New York will be delivered of its outlaws within a very brief period.

It was Carey Welch's former proprietor of the "Golden Horn," which was ruined and
broken up by the police, continues to do
very well.

Having no mother, the Sisters in charge of the hospital, by consent of her father, kept her there to do duty there.

The fire started by her on Christmas was extinguished without assistance from the outside, but her work on New Year's day necessitated the calling out of the Fire Department, and placed in imminent peril the lives of many patients.

Judge Justice O'Bryan committed Mamie to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

FIRST OUT WITH HIS SLEIGH.

Liveryman Dougherty Captures This Winter's Prize at Huber's.

Edward S. Dougherty, proprietor of a boarding stable at 167 West One Hundred and Thirty-second street, won the bottle of champagne at Huber's Hotel (formerly the Vale Hotel), which is given every season to the first person who reaches the hotel in a sleigh.

The race this morning was a hot one between several drivers, but was won by Dougherty at 7:04 o'clock, the next come reaching the road-house ten minutes later.

The J. Chr. G. Hufel Brewing Co.'s MANHATTAN BEER, Malt and Hops only. 229 E.
26th St. *.

In this article follows a note, BRADYBOTTIN cures it. *

The EVENING EDITION of the World.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1892.

PRICE ONE CENT.

SPORTING EXTRA.

PRICE ONE CENT.

law and decency. The "Golden Horn," however, as it was in its worst days, could not be compared with the unspeakable viciousness of the present den of iniquity conducted by Mr. Carey Welch.

A LANDMARK OF CORRUPTION.

Welch is a landmark of corruption in the neighborhood which has degraded and made notorious.

When he first opened his dive on Thirteenth street, near Third avenue, it was a respectable neighborhood, but as the character of the place became known to fathers of families they made haste to remove their sons and daughters beyond the pale of its demoralizing and degrading influence.

Owners of property there now find it difficult to rent their houses to desirable tenants.

may name if anybody can prove the contrary. No one will take you up, and that will make them shut up."

A SAMPLE CASE OF ROBBERY.

John G. Hart, a medical student of 171 West Forty-ninth street, was robbed by habituees of Mr. Welch's "Hole in the Wall" last night.

He left that resort last night with two women he had met there, and was taken by them to a room in a house on East Thirteenth street.

Hart fell asleep there, but awoke in time to catch the women going through his pockets.
Hart caused their arrest, but failed to appear against them in the Essex Market Court this morning, and so the prisoners were discharged.

BLAINE TAKEN SICK. FIRST SNOW OF '92.

Attacked by Stomach Trouble While at His Office.

Resting Easily at Noon and Pronounced Out of Danger.

Great Alarm for a Time—The Secretary's Daughter Hastily Called.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Great excitement was caused in the Department of State this afternoon by a report that Secretary Blaine had been taken suddenly ill while at work in his office.

The report proved to be true, but every precaution was taken to prevent the fact becoming public.

Surgeon-General Browne, of the navy, whose office is in the same building, was summoned and was promptly in attendance.

Another physician from the War Department was also on hand a few minutes and under their joint efforts Mr. Blaine was made to feel comparatively comfortable.

His daughter, Miss Blanche, was informed of his condition and was soon at his side.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

CASE OF A BLIZZARD.

Those who were astir at an early hour this morning really thought that another old-fashioned blizzard had struck the town, for the air was filled with blinding clouds of snow, which were driven along by a keen biting wind from the north and rapidly piling up in deep drifts behind the sheltered corners and along the side streets.

The first snow-storm of the season is always an event of great importance and interest to the people of New York, and when it comes as it did this morning suddenly and unannounced, it makes an unusual sensation in the community.

Today's storm has been long in coming but it made up for its delay in fierceness and violence when it swept down upon the city about 6:30 a.m.

Local Weather Observer Dunn had hardly a suspicion of it at midnight, when he sent out his daily forecast, and he merely mentioned the possibility of light snow sometime during the following twenty-four hours. There was a storm center passing over the country to the south of us, and it seemed just as likely to bring a little more rain as snow for the northern belt.

At 6:30 a.m. the thermometer was at 32°.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

The nature of his illness is not known at present, but is said to be due altogether to present stomach derangement.

LATER.—The Secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be in good condition, and it is expected that he will be able to be out tomorrow. His son, James G. Blaine, Jr., left this city this afternoon for Philadelphia.

Mr. Blaine's sudden illness was caused by an attack of indigestion, the result of some imprudence at breakfast.

His daughter was sent for before the nature of his indisposition was known.

THE STORM TO LAST ALL NIGHT AND BE FOLLOWED BY A COLD WAVE.

The first snow-storm of the season is always
an event of great importance and interest to the people of New York, and when it comes
as it did this morning suddenly and unannounced,
it makes an unusual sensation in the community.

Today's storm has been long in coming but it made up for its delay in fierceness and
violence when it swept down upon the city
about 6:30 a.m.

Local Weather Observer Dunn had hardly a suspicion of it at midnight, when he sent out
his daily forecast, and he merely mentioned
the possibility of light snow sometime during the following twenty-four hours. There was a storm center passing over the country to the south of us, and it seemed just as likely to bring a little more rain as snow for the northern belt.

At 6:30 a.m. the thermometer was at 32°.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

The nature of his illness is not known at present, but is said to be due altogether to
present stomach derangement.

LATER.—The Secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be in good condition, and it is expected that he will be able to be out tomorrow. His son, James G. Blaine, Jr., left this city this afternoon
for Philadelphia.

Mr. Blaine's sudden illness was caused by an attack of indigestion, the result of some
imprudence at breakfast.

His daughter was sent for before the nature
of his indisposition was known.

THE STORM TO LAST ALL NIGHT AND BE FOLLOWED BY A COLD WAVE.

The first snow-storm of the season is always
an event of great importance and interest to the people of New York, and when it comes
as it did this morning suddenly and unannounced, it makes an unusual sensation in the community.

Today's storm has been long in coming but it made up for its delay in fierceness and
violence when it swept down upon the city
about 6:30 a.m.

Local Weather Observer Dunn had hardly a suspicion of it at midnight, when he sent out
his daily forecast, and he merely mentioned
the possibility of light snow sometime during the following twenty-four hours. There was a storm center passing over the country to the south of us, and it seemed just as likely to bring a little more rain as snow for the northern belt.

At 6:30 a.m. the thermometer was at 32°.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

The nature of his illness is not known at present, but is said to be due altogether to
present stomach derangement.

LATER.—The Secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be in good condition, and it is expected that he will be able to be out tomorrow. His son, James G. Blaine, Jr., left this city this afternoon
for Philadelphia.

Mr. Blaine's sudden illness was caused by an attack of indigestion, the result of some
imprudence at breakfast.

His daughter was sent for before the nature
of his indisposition was known.

THE STORM TO LAST ALL NIGHT AND BE
FOLLOWED BY A COLD WAVE.

The first snow-storm of the season is always
an event of great importance and interest to the people of New York, and when it comes
as it did this morning suddenly and unannounced, it makes an unusual sensation in the community.

Today's storm has been long in coming but it made up for its delay in fierceness and
violence when it swept down upon the city
about 6:30 a.m.

Local Weather Observer Dunn had hardly a suspicion of it at midnight, when he sent out
his daily forecast, and he merely mentioned
the possibility of light snow sometime during the following twenty-four hours. There was a storm center passing over the country to the south of us, and it seemed just as likely to bring a little more rain as snow for the northern belt.

At 6:30 a.m. the thermometer was at 32°.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

The nature of his illness is not known at present, but is said to be due altogether to
present stomach derangement.

LATER.—The Secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be in good condition, and it is expected that he will be able to be out tomorrow. His son, James G. Blaine, Jr., left this city this afternoon
for Philadelphia.

Mr. Blaine's sudden illness was caused by an attack of indigestion, the result of some
imprudence at breakfast.

His daughter was sent for before the nature
of his indisposition was known.

THE STORM TO LAST ALL NIGHT AND BE
FOLLOWED BY A COLD WAVE.

The first snow-storm of the season is always
an event of great importance and interest to the people of New York, and when it comes
as it did this morning suddenly and unannounced, it makes an unusual sensation in the community.

Today's storm has been long in coming but it made up for its delay in fierceness and
violence when it swept down upon the city
about 6:30 a.m.

Local Weather Observer Dunn had hardly a suspicion of it at midnight, when he sent out
his daily forecast, and he merely mentioned
the possibility of light snow sometime during the following twenty-four hours. There was a storm center passing over the country to the south of us, and it seemed just as likely to bring a little more rain as snow for the northern belt.

At 6:30 a.m. the thermometer was at 32°.

The alarm was great at first, but subsided
about noon, when the Secretary was reported as resting easily and as being entirely out of danger.

The nature of his illness is not known at present, but is said to be due altogether to
present stomach derangement.

LATER.—The Secretary was removed to his home in a carriage. He is now reported to be in good condition, and it is expected that he will be able to be out tomorrow. His son, James G. Blaine, Jr., left this city this afternoon
for Philadelphia.

Mr. Blaine's sudden illness was caused by an attack of indigestion, the result of some
imprudence at breakfast.

His daughter was sent for before the nature
of his indisposition was known.

THE STORM TO LAST ALL NIGHT AND BE
FOLLOWED BY A COLD WAVE.